Having met Emmanuelle Didou during my studies of Information-Communication, I could appreciate her human qualities which has convinced me to propose later Emmanuelle in a major communications project within the CRIJ Brittany (Regional Committee Youth Information).

Her involvement and dynamism in a reinforcement of the Communication Services and Public Relations at the launch of the new headquarters of Brittany CRIJ enabled us to overcome the challenge that an event of this magnitude suppose for a structure like ours.

For two months, and under the responsibility of major projects, Emmanuelle has successfully assimilated the work environment, the methodology and the interests at stake, to propose the most appropriate solutions. His energy and attention to detail have helped us to best manage a period which saw a major renovation of our means of communication.

Her autonomy and her initiative in a time when hardly have the time necessary to present all the facts relating to the various actions that were ongoing, have been very helpful and allowed me to delegate her with confidence important tasks on several occasions.

Her natural sympathy and her authenticity, have allowed to integrate quickly into the team CRIJ Brittany.

Therefore, I really regret that the CRIJ Brittany has not been able to keep Miss Didou once completed its mission, and I can on the other hand, confidently recommend Emmanuelle as Head of Communication and Public Relations.
